Mother Goose is the ninth pantomime production by the Players in their current incarnation. We like to think the group is thriving with new blood joining the older-established hands, though to many of those older-established hands it only seems like yesterday they trod the boards in Sleeping Beauty. We have established one or two mini-traditons during these nine pantomimes, thus far we have not repeated a story, though the same cannot be said of the jokes. Each year we have persuaded another brave mortal to portray Dame, and I must say Simon seems to have taken to higher heels as if born to the task. Baddies, however, are a different kettle of fish, many are called but few are chosen, to endure the wrath of the assembled younger element. Monica Cane waves a wand for the first time as Fairy Sunbeam, to right wrongs and banish baddies with no- nonsense authority. Rae Calnan graces the fishnet and boots, and swashes her buckle. Mark Foster directs pantomime for the first time, aided and abetted by Sharon, and Diana Yeulet. We hope you enjoy our little bit of fun.

Our next production: Alan Ayckbourn's Bedroom Farce
directed by Dave Adams
